Question from 14 to 18

Mosquitoes are found in most parts of the world where the weather is damp. They are also found where there are lakes, ponds, and swamps.

Mosquitoes lay their eggs in water. They usually lay their eggs in ponds and pools of water. They also lay their eggs in old tins and coconut shells that are filled with rainwater. The baby mosquitoes hatch out of these eggs, and they are called wriggles. These wriggles do not have wings and they live in water.

The male mosquitoes live on fruit juices and nectar from flowers but the female mosquitoes drink blood from people and animals. In this way, the mosquitoes spread diseases.

In Malaysia, mosquitoes spread dengue fever. Children can die if they get this fever. So, it is important to get rid of these mosquitoes. One way of doing it is poured away water from old bottle and tins. Another way is to put "abate" into ponds and tanks of water. This will kill the wriggles. Insecticides are sometimes sprayed as a fog to kill the grown mosquitoes.

One day Tom and Jerry went to the lake with Rover. Rover can swim well, so Jerry made him go into the water after a stick. "Jump, Rover! Jump in and get the stick." said Jerry, and into the water Rover went with a big splash. Pretty soon he came out with the stick in his mouth. Rover did not like the game as much as Jerry because the water was a little cold. They had a fine time for a while with Rover, and then set out for home because it was late in the day, and they could not stay long. On the way home, Rover saw a rabbit and away he went after it as fast as he could go. Tom and Jerry ran too but could not keep up with Rover and the rabbit.
